The Weekender

An Homage to Music

Rev. Kaylen Short, Senior Minister

Last Friday, The Music Garden had one of its piano recitals at FFUMC and I attended. At that recital, our very own Luanne Harms served as the emcee and #1 supporter of the students. Toward the beginning of the event, she spoke about how important music could be in the lives of those children. So as I sat and listened to the pieces that were performed, I kept thinking about all the things that can be learned through music.

Take those students for example: undoubtedly, they have learned the obvious physical lessons from music. They've learned to press the right keys, how to keep time and rhythm with their hands, and have acquired the physical dexterity to do those things. However, it's the larger life lessons that I saw on display through their performances. Those students are clearly learning lessons many adults struggle with. They are learning how to perform for a group of peers, how to persevere when one of the keys sticks, and how to support others in the classes. The lessons don't stop there.

I, too, learned a great deal from music. For as long as I can remember, I've been singing in church. Any time one of you approaches me during the passing of the peace and says, "Hey! You really can sing!" I can't help but smile and think of my childhood children's church choir teachers. It was in children's choir that I learned how to be in harmony with others and it was in children's choir that I learned to have the confidence to stand in front of a congregation. On a VHS tape buried deep in my parent's basement is a video of an adolescent Kaylen singing one of my first solos during the Easter cantata of my home church. More than two decades later I still remember almost every word of that solo even though I certainly can't hit a lot of the notes anymore.

Our own chancel choir is a model of many of these musical life lessons, too. They are one of the most committed groups in our church and have clearly all learned to have the discipline required to put together wonderful music every week while also preparing for larger concerts and performances. Through their pieces they remind us all that in some moments it's more important to rest than to keep going. They also have learned not to take themselves too seriously, which is something I believe anyone who works with Nicholas the Great (Nick Bowden) learns in short order.

There are so many lessons we all can learn from music and so many reasons we should be grateful to be surrounded by wonderful music here at FFUMC. I know this Sunday will be no exception.

Returning to FFUMC - Nativities from Around the World

December 5-6 from noon to 7 PM; December 7 from 10 AM to 3 PM

During this Advent season, FFUMC will again host a collection of hundreds of unique nativities, curated by Wendy Haymans and her late mother Sharon Bowen as a ministry of focus about the meaning of Christ's birth, life, death and resurrection. Wendy is the daughter-in-law of our own Gerry and Jim Haymans and is generously making the exhibit available to our community at no charge.

The exhibit will be open to the public on Thursday and Friday, December 5-6, from noon to 7 PM and on Saturday, December 7, from 10 AM – 3 PM. Wednesday, December 4, will be reserved for senior groups and others needing extra time to go through the exhibit.

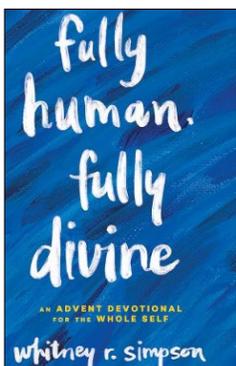

Please volunteer to help. Two years ago, hundreds came to see the collection and we expect more this year. Hosting the exhibit is a lot of fun, and it also is labor-intensive. The jobs include serving as greeters and monitors and helping with set-up and tear-down.

You can sign up to volunteer at this Sign-Up Genius link or call the church office.

Donate towels for the Exhibit

Also – we need lots of towels for leveling the exhibit surfaces. Please donate old, raggedy (but clean) towels you have on hand. Any size will do. If you want your towels back, please put your name on them. You can bring them to the church office or put them in a bin in Welcome Center.

Afterward, we will donate unclaimed towels to a local animal shelter.

The following dates are Tuesdays, December 3, 10, and 17. You can purchase the book at any of your favorite book stores. [Please sign up online or call the church office to let Rev. Just a quick note to say thank you for the immediate and fast response for assistance in paying for my mother's propane bill so she could get some heat in the house. Christmas Marketplace 2024 - $13,200+

We had another successful Christmas Marketplace thanks to YOU! With your amazing efforts, we raised more than $13,200 this year! Before and on November 2, you baked and cooked, sorted and priced, welcomed and cleaned up, and we couldn't have done it without YOU!

Most importantly, our charities will benefit from all your hard work as they continue to protect women and children, provide food and clothing to those in need, support those struggling with addictions, and strive to heal our veterans. The 2024 Christmas Marketplace charities are Bloom Our Youth, Fayette Samaritans, Hope Harbor, Calvin Center Horses & Warriors, The I-58 Mission, Pregnancy Resource Center, Promise Place, and our very own FFUMC Benevolence Fund, Jail Ministry and Prayer Shawl Ministry. Your support will help their good work continue.
