The Weekender

A Holy Heatwave Rev. Kaylen Short

Our air conditioner died last week. Not sputtered. Not limped along. Just gave up entirely. It very quickly became the kind of hot in the house where even thinking made you sweat. Every room threatened to become a slow cooker, and every member of the family began to melt. The dogs only took breaks between panting long enough to look at me with that expression that clearly asked, "Are you going to do something about this?" I resorted to fans, cold showers, and sitting very still. I say "I" because I encouraged Alli and Abby to go stay with family. Though before they left, I did tease Alli a bit about "for better or worse" apparently not including "with or without air conditioning."

Eventually, a company came out and gave us the news: we needed a whole new unit. I'll admit, I considered whether it might be cheaper to just move. But by the time the weekend rolled around, the temperature dropped. Suddenly, it was bearable. Cooler air rolled in like a gift, and for a moment we could breathe again, just as the new AC was being installed.

Life has seasons like this. Some stretches are just hard, frustrating, uncomfortable, draining, and we wonder how much longer we can keep sweating it out. Then something shifts. Sometimes it's a new solution. Sometimes it's a change in circumstances. Sometimes it's just time passing. And through it all, God is present, not always fixing things instantly, but sustaining us while we wait.

We're up and running now, and I'm grateful for that cool air humming in the background. But I'm also grateful for unexpected relief, small mercies, and a little perspective.

If this week feels like something has broken for you, whether it's affecting your body, your spirit, or your schedule, hang in there. Relief might be sooner than you think.

Get ready: Disciple I starts August 13 at FFUMC

Disciple I is a 34-week Bible study program that provides an overview of the entire Bible, emphasizing the Old and New Testaments equally. It aims to develop strong Christian leaders through disciplined Bible study and encourages participants to become disciples through Bible study. The study involves daily Bible reading and weekly group meetings where participants discuss their readings and insights. FFUMC will be offering the course beginning August 13 under the leadership of two teachers: Barb Combs and Jeff Hansen.

Why take Disciple I at Fayetteville First? According to leader Barb Combs:

- You will never read the Bible in the same way again.
- You'll be learning from other people as they share what they know and have learned and you share what you know and have learned.
- You'll learn how the Old and the New Testament work together.

The program will be offered on Wednesdays from 3 to 5 PM with another offering of the same class from 6 to 8 PM. A single Kickoff Meeting (Week 0) on Wednesday, August 13, at 5:30 PM will introduce the program. Weeks 1-34 will begin the following week with the two separate class times. Please indicate in the memo on registration which class time you desire. There is no charge for the class or materials; donations are accepted. For more information about the program, contact Barb Combs or Jeff Hansen.

Sign up for A Path to God: The Enneagram as Spiritual Practice by August 17

The Enneagram is growing in popularity as a personality typing tool, but it is so much more! In fact, the Enneagram is a wonderful tool for spiritual formation. Learning our Enneagram type can help us identify specific ways in which we are invited to share God with the world, the patterns that get in the way of our doing that, and the spiritual practices that return our focus to God and our true calling. Join us as we explore this fascinating tool.

Saturday, August 23 10 AM to 4 PM FFUMC Fellowship Hall

FREE — Reservations required

This course will be taught by Kristen Vincent. Learn more and register here.

Want to know more about the Enneagram before the workshop? Our workshop leader recommends these books (not required reading, but highly recommended!): "The Road Back to You" by Cron/Stabile and "The Enneagram Guide to Waking Up" by Beatrice Chestnut.

- Requests will be accepted directly from an individual or a family member only to ensure privacy as desired by our church family.
- A request will remain for the month unless you ask to have it removed.

Sunshine VBS - A JOY every year!

For more than 40 years, Fayetteville First UMC has hosted Sunshine VBS—a very special Vacation Bible School designed for adults with developmental disabilities. And for every one of those years, Susie Arrington has played a vital role, giving her time, energy, and love to a group that responds with pure joy—smiles, hugs, and heartfelt laughter.

This year was no exception. With the help of a dedicated team of volunteers, Susie led a group of about 25 adults on a themed "Road Trip," exploring the many ways God shows His love. One powerful message stood out: even though we can't see the wind, we can feel its effects—just like we can feel God's presence through Scripture, worship songs, and the love of others.

And feel it they did—God's love was everywhere at Sunshine VBS this year.

If you're interested in being a part of this joyful ministry, whether on Sunday mornings or Wednesday nights, we'd love to have you! Contact Jami Maguire to learn more.

A note of thanks to our church family:

I am so thankful for FFUMC, the congregation, and all of the adult and youth volunteers that continue to love and support the Sunshine Ministry. We enjoyed another inspiring and beautiful week with this special group at Sunshine VBS. This ministry continues to grow because of the support from all of you. My heart is full and beyond grateful. Thank you for being so faithful in your service.

All my love, Susie Arrington
